Broken and Health May be Improved. BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 23.—The Rev. T. De Witt Taimage, D. D., preached in the Brook-lyn Tabernacle this morning on the subject; "Forgiveness Before Sundown." After ex-"Forgiveness Before Sundown." After explaining some passages concerning Heskian, Ir. Talmage gave out the following hymn, which was sung by the congregation:

"This glorious hope revives
Our courage by the way,
While each in expectation lives
And longs to see the day."

Prof. Henry Eyre Browne rendered on the organ an aria with variations, by Cramer, The text of the aermon was from Ephesians iv, 25; "Let not the sun go down upon your

What a pillow, embroidered of all colors, hath the dying day! The oradie of clouds from which the sun time is beautiful enough. But it is uppassed by the many colored man. Struck the pillow of the control of the control in London, England, two summers ago, While the religious service was going on Rev. Dr. Roardman, glorious man, suces gone to his heavenly rest, was telling the score of side people present that thrist was there, as of old to heal all discuses, and that, if they would only believe, their sidness would depart. I saw a woman near me, with hand and arm twisted of rheumanism, and her wrist was fiery with inflammation, and it looked like those cases of chronic rheumanism which we have all seen and sympathized with, cases be yound all human healing. At the preacher's reiteration of the words: "Will you believe? Do you believe? Do you believe now." I heard this poor sick woman say, with an emphasis which sounded through the building, "I do believe." And then she laid her twisted arm and hand out as straight as your arm and hand, or mine. If I had seen one rise from the dead, I would not have been much more thrilled. Since then I believe that God will do anything in answer to our prayer and in answer to our faith, and he can heal our bodies, and if our soul is all twisted and misshapen of revenge and hate, and inflamed with sinful proclivity, He can straighten that also and make it well and clean. Ay, you will not postpore till sundown forgiveness of enemies if you can realize that their behavior towards you may be put into the catalogue of the "all things" that "work together for good to those that love God." I have had multitudes of triends, but I have found in my own experience that God so arranged it that the groatest opportunities of usefulness that have been opened before me were opened by enemies. And when, years ago, they conspired against me, that opened all Christendom to me as a field in which to preach the Gospel. So you may harness your antagonists to your best inseress and compel them to draw you on to better work and higher character. Suppose, instead of waiting until six minutes past five o'clock this evening, when the aun will see, you transact this glorious work of forgiveness before meridian.

Again:

instead of waiting until six minutes past five o'clock this evening, when the sun will set, you transact this glorious work of forgiveness before meridian.

Again: We ought not to let the sun go down on our wath, because we will sleep better if we are at peace with everybody. Insomnia is getting to be one of the most prevalent of disorders. How few people retire at 10 o'clock at night and sleep clear through to 6 in the morning. To relieve this disorder all narcofes, and sedatives, and chloral and bronde of potassium, and cocaine, and intoxicants are used, but nothing is more important than a quiet spirit if we would win somnolence. How is a man going to sleep when he is in mind pursuing an enemy? With what nervous twitch he will start out of a dream! That new plan for cornoring his foe will keep him wide awake while the clock strikes eleven, twelve, one, two, three, four. I give you an unfailing prescription for wakefulness: Spend the evening hours rehearsing your wrongs and the best way of avenging them. Hold a convention of friends on this subject in your panior or office at 8 and 2 o'clock. Close the evening by writing a bitter letter expressing your sentiments. Take from the desk or pureon hole the papers in the case to refresh your sentiments. Take from the desk or pureon hole the papers in the case to refresh your sentiments. Take from the desk or pureon hole the papers in the case to refresh your sentiments. Take from the desk or pureon hole the papers in the case to refresh your family will be a worried quiescence, and if you take the precaution to the sanctities of your dominiors? Why let those slanderrs who have already torn your reputation to pieces or injured your bounds. Thus far and no farther." Many a man and many a woman is having the health of body as well as the health of soul caten away by a malevolent spirit. I have in time of religious awakening had person, hight after night, come into the sunset? Why not stand behind he harricade of evening cloud and say to them. Thus far and no farther." tain that virulence."

A boy is Sparts, having stole a fox, kept him under his coat, and, though the fox was goawing his vitals, he submitted to it rather than expose bis misteed. Many a man with a smiling face has under his jacket an aumority that is gnawing away the strength of his body and the integrity of his seni. Better get itd of that hidden fox as soon as possible.

There are hundreds of domestic circles where that which most is needed is the selrit of forgiveness. Brothers apart, and sisters apart, and parents and children apart. Solomon says a brother offended is harder to be won that a strong city. Are there not enough sacred memories of your childhood to bring you together? The rabbinarecount how that Nebuchainezzar's son had such a spite against his father burned to ashes and then put the ashes into four saces and tied them to four engles needs, which flew away in opposite directions. And there are now domestic antipathies that seem forever to have scattered all parental memories to the four winds of heaven. How far the engles hy with that sacred ashes! The hour of sundown maxes to that family no practical suggestion. Thomas Carlyle, in his biography of Frederick the Great, says the old king was told by the confessor that he must be at peace with his enemies if he wanted to enter beaven. Then he said to his wife, the queen, "Write to your brother after I am dead that if forgive him." Roloff, the confessor, said, "Her majesty had better write him immediately," "No," said the king, "after I am dead; that will be safer." So he is the same set before forgiveness takes place, because we might not in allow the sun set before forgiveness takes place, because we might not live to see another day. And what if we should be ushered into the presence of our Maker with a gruige upon our soul? The majority of people depart this life in the night. Between 11 o close p. m. and 3 o clock a. m. there is something to the atmosphere which relaxes the grip which the body has on the soul, and most of people cuter the next world through the shadowsofthis world. Perhaps God may have arranged it in that way so as to make the centrast the more glorious. I have seen sunshing days in this world that must have been almost like the rediance of beaven. But as most people leave the earth between sundewnship days in this world that must have been almost like the rediance of heaven. But as most people over the outside wall of heaven and have them obliterated in an hour. He must be very rich in resources shd can put us through in safety. If all the garriture of the western heavens at eventide is but the upholistery of one of the windows of our future home, what amail business for us to be chasing enemies! Let not this Sabbath sun go down upon your wrath. Mah met said: "The sword is the key of neaven and hell, a drop of blood shed is better than facting, and wounds in the day of judgment resplendent as vermillion and oderiferous as muck." But, my heaven, in the last day we will find just the opposite of that to be true, and that the sword never unlocks heaven, and thet He who heals wounds is greater than he who makes them, and that on the same ring are two keys—God's forgiveness of us, and our forgiveness of enemice—and these two keys unlock paradise.

And now I wish for all of you a beautiful sunset in your cartify existence. With some of you it has been a long day of trouble, and with others of you it will be far from calm. When the sun rose at 6 o'clock it was the hem morning of youth, and a fair day was prophesied, but by the time the moonday of midlife had come and the clock of your earthly existence had struck twelve, cloud racks gathered, and tempess beliewed in the track of tempess; but as the ovening of old age approaches I pray find the skies may brighten and the clouds be pilled up into pillers as of celestial temples to which you go remove as with mounted cohorts ome to take you home. And as you sink out of sight below the horizon may there be a radiance of Christian example lingering long after you are gone, and on the hils in letters of emerald: "Thy sun shall no more go down, neither shall be thine everlasting light and the days of thy mourning shall be ended." So shall the sunset of earth become the sunrise of heaven.

Hardly anything affects me so much in the uncovering of ancient Pompeli as the account of the soldier who, after the city had fer many centuries been covered with the ashes and scorice of Vesuvius, was found standing in his place on guard, hand on spear and helmet on head. Others fied at the awful submitgement, but the explorer, 1,760 years siter, found the body of that brave fellow in right position. And it will be a grand thing if, when our last moment comes, we are found in right position toward the world, as well as in right position toward God, on guard and unshrighted by the ashes from the mountain of death. The Long-Missing, Much-Wanted Papers Found.

Mr. Charles Thompson, a member of the law firm of Hunton & Chandler, last Saturday sent to the clerk of the court a bundle of papers and the following letter:

R. J. Misios, 1800. Clerk Supreme Court, D. C.—Dear Shr. I hereby return the papers in the case of J. Harris Rogers vs. A. H. Garland et al., which I found in my private drawer in my office, where I placed them, as I suppose and believe, when brought to the office by young At Lee during Mr. Chandler's absence from the city, put them for safe keeping, and had entirely forgot the incident of phacing them there. No one has access to this drawer but myself, it being a place! keep my private papers. Very truly, deep. "Let not the sun go down upon your wrath."

"But," you say, "I have more than I can bear too much is put upon me, and I am not to blame if I am somewhat revengeful and unretenting." Then I think of the little child at the moving of some goods from a store. The father was putting some rolls of goods on the child's arm, package after package, and some one said: "That child is being overloaded and so much ought not to be put upon her," when the child' responded: "Father knows how much I can carry," sud God, our Father, will tot allow too much imposition on his children. In the day of eternity it will be found you had not one annoyance too many, not one exasperation too many. The papers, on examination being made, proved to be those of which much has been said recently. They are all intact, and there is no occasion for further lamonting their disappearance. For the first time in some eighteen months this juvenile temperance organiza-Again: We ought not to allow the passage of the sunset hour before the dismissal of all our afficits, because we may associate the sub-limest action of the soul with the sublimest spectacle in nature. It is a most delightsome thing to have our personal experiences allied with certain objects. There is a tree or river bank where God first answered your prayer. You will never pass that bace or think of that

Again: We ought not to allow the passage o

and Aristippus recounds through history, but Aristippus, who was least to biame, went to Aristippus, who was least to biame, went to Aristipus, who was least to biame, went to Aristipus, who was least to biame, went to Aristipus, which was least to be an all who had been the first in healing the breach." and they were always friends afterward. So let the one of you that is least to biame take the first step toward conciliation. The one most in the wrong will never lake it, Oh. it makes one feel splendidly to be sole by God's help to practice unlimited forgiveness. It improves one's body and soil. It will make you measure three or four more inches around the chest and improve your respiration so that you can take a deeper and longer breath. It improves the countenance by scattering the gloom, and brightening the forchead, and loosening the pinched look about the nostrile and ilp, and makes you somewhat like God himself. He is independent of all the universe, and we cannot copy that. He is creative, and we cannot copy that. He is omnipresent, and we cannot copy that. But he forgives with a broad sweep all faults, and all wong doing, and in that we may copy Him with mighty success. Go harness that abblime action of your soul to an attumnal sunset the hour when the gate of heaven opens to let the day pass into the eternities, and some of the glories escape this way through the brief opening. We talk about the Italian sunset, and sunset amid the Conferillass. But I will ten you how you may see a grander sunset than any mere lover of nature ever beheld; that is by linging into it all your harteds and animosties, and let the horses of fire trample them and the charlots of fire roll over them and the speamen of fire roll over them and the beach of fire consume them, and the billows of live overwhelm them. The sublimest thing you can do is forgiveness. Along the subscient and the Charlots of fire roll over them and the subscient the glowing banks of this coming eventice let the divine and the the first of little importa

Along the glowing banks of this coming evenide let the divine and the human be concurrent.

Again: We should not let the sun go down on our wrath, because it is of little importance what the world says of you or does to you when you have the alluent field of the sunset as your provider and defender. Prople talk as though it were a fixed spectante of mature and always the same. But no one ever say two smeets astic, and if the world has existed six thousand years there have been about two million one hundred and ninety thousand sunsets, each of them as distinct from all the other pictures in the gallery of the say as Titlan's "Last Samper," Buben's "Discent from the Cross," Raphael's "Transfiguration," and Michael Angelo's "Last Jidgment" are distinct from each other. If that God of such infinite resources that he can put on the wall os the sky each night more than the Louvre and the Luxembourg and the Vatican and the Dressien and Venetian galleries all in one, is my God and your God, our Provider and Protector, what is the use of our worrying about any human antagonism. If we are misinterpreted, the field of the many-coloral superious little can afford to hang such musterpieces.

Getting up Early to Watch the Horses -Trying to Fick the Good Ones-List of the Eunners' Stable at the Course.

The Ivy City race track yesterday was literally alive with the followers of the turf, and from sunrise until the sun began to set, and even after, numerous admirers of the excitement incident to the race course were actively engaged in "spotting" the winners of the coming fall meeting. As early as 4 o'clock yesterday morning, a full contingent of the racing public were present to witness the trials of speed bepresent to witness the trials of speed between the famous racers that are to contend at Ivy City during the present week. The knowing ones demonstrated in their expressions of approval, but it is safe to warn the general public that yesterday's trials are no indication as to the sport to be witnessed during the meeting. Slow work was the general rule throughout. The morning gave no reliable pointer upon the merits of the racers, and at the present time it is but folly to indicate a forecast of what will be the final result. Fast time in a preliminary canter is not a test of a racer's speed and not until the fiyers are at the post and contend for the money offered will there be a true test. Hundreds upon hundreds tried yesterday to get an inkiling of what was to be the result, but it is safe to say that the greater portion were amiss in their calculations, and that later the REPUBLICAN will give them better information than they have received by their visit to the race track.

Ven der Ahe is reported as being desirous of buying the Athletos.
Paul Hines, they say, will go to Indianspolls.
Wait.
Gaffney will not manage the Washingtons next year. This is straight goods, and there are no files on the prediction.
Wilmot, Olison, and Murray are the names of the new mon engaged by the Washingtons.
Wilmot is a first class fielder and Gibson and Murray catchers.

BASE BALL NOTES.

Wilmet is a first class fielder and Gibson and Murray catchers.

The best authenticated rumor is that Ted Sullivan will manage the Nationals host year, and, if such proves to be the case, locat patrous can congratulate themselves, as they will have a manager who knows what is to be expected of a first class club. See?

Mr. Gaffiney positively said he was going to impire next season, as he had enough of the Washington Club and its owners, as the predent hampered him in every way and meddled with the players.—The Sporting Life. Wonder what friend thewite will thing of this expression from his favorite?

THE BUCKEYE DEMOCRATS Will Take Part in Politics Despits Commissioner Oberly.

If the Ohio Demogratic Association feetat all afraid of Civil Service Commissioner Oberly, it did not show any symptoms of it at Saturday night's meeting. Numerous committees were appointed to assist in committees were appointed to assist in a something like successful manner. One of the committees was for the purpose of hunting up the straggling attaches of the Buckeye Democracy, and trying the effect of moral sussion on men who do not want to go home and vote. The detail for this duty consisted of Messrs. Hugh Pursell, J. E. Bergin, Dr. W. F. Gilliam, and David Fisher.

E. Bergin, Dr. W. F. Gilliam, and David Fisher.

It was suggested that the active membership ought to be increased until the number should reach a somewhat respectable figure, so a recruiting committee was appointed—Messra. James F. Kelly, Isanc Petrie, P. C. Johnson, David Okey, and C. H. J. Schwartz.

It was also observed that the meetings lacked that sprightliness and interest they should have, so Messra. James E. Bergin. W. C. Crawley, A. R. Yoat, Hugh Pursell, and D. C. Fallantine were appointed a committee to stir things up a little and provide some manner of entertainment.

some manner of entertainment.

The meeting adjourned until next Saturday night, when it is expected that Congressman Taulbee, of Kentucky, and Gen. James W. Denver, of Onlo, and other refreshments will be present.

THE TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

THE HIDDEN WAY ACROSS THE THRES-HOLD: or, The Mystery Which Hath Been Hidden from Ages and from Generations. An explanation of the concealed forces in every man to open the Temple of the Soul and to learn the guidance of the Unwen Hand. Huntrated and made plain with as few occult phrases as possible. By J. C. STREET, A. B. N., Fellow of the Order S. S. S. and of the Brotherhood of Z. Z. R. R. Z. Z. Roston: Lee & Shepard, 10 Milk street. Eale, William H. Morrison. $6.50.

A finely presented volume of 597 ample pages, with strange illustrations. The "Inpages, with strange litustrations. The "lotroduction" thus begins: "These pages, containing thoughts from many minds,
from intelligences in the form and out of it,
from souls embodied and disembodied, have been gathered by the compiler." &c.

He describes himself as "a student and medium for occuit forces." His pen is guided by the illumination "of spirit and the divinity = "and from departed souls now in heaven." Moreover, he is "persuaded by numerous calls from the two worlds, and prompted by large experiences of tremendous scenes of occult character witnessed abroad."

We have read the volume and pondered over it, and walked about and considered it, and retired to our couch near the hour of daybreak and dreamed of it, but still—mystery, mystery, all is mystery. No
"thought" has reached us from its "kevelations," no point, of the thousand points, has been rendered "plain."

Spiritualism may be true. We do not know. Our ignorance concerning it has failed to receive light from the much we have read, the much we have witnessed.

But other mortals claim convincing experience.

A MANUAL OF NORTH AMERICAN BIRDS By ROBERT RIDGWAY, Illustrated by 401 outline drawings of the generic characters. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincett Company, Sale, A. S. Witherbee & Co. $7.50.

First, a portrait-true to the life-of the late Prof. Spencer F. Buird, secretary of

First, a portrait—true to the life—of the late Prof. Spencer F. Baird, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and director of the United States National Museum. This is followed by a beautiful and just tribute to the man and the scholar, long and well known and loved here in Washington.

This great work was projected and commenced by Prof. Baird, than whom, as an ornithologist, no one in the country could be found more eminent, as proved by his published volumes and his universal influence.

The task, begun with such high promise, but interrupted by engrossing public duties, and suddenly rendered impossible by his recall "home," has been assumed and nobly concluded by the present author, whose connection with the department of birds, United States National Museum, makes evident his capacity.

In this manual, North American ornithology is furnished in a convenient form, reduced to the smallest compass, though the magnitude of the subject requires, even thus, 631 pages, exclusive of the plates, which add 124 more. The character of any given specimen is presented with the drawing, beside the correct nomenclature of each species, a statement of its natural habit at and other concomitant data.

A perfectly reliable, handy book for the sportsman and traveler as well as for the resident naturalist, is now offered, whereby all may easily identify any North American bird in its variations whatever of plumpage.

RECOLLECTIONS OF A MINISTER TO FRANCE, 1800-1877. By E. B. Washnense, L.L. D. With illustrations. Two volumes. New York: Charles Seriner's Sons. Sale, William Ballantyne & Son. $8.

These large and superb books, with their most interesting, thrilling, and important text, portraits, scenes of the German war time, the commune, and others, will instruct every reader, and each may rely on the truth every reader, and each may rely on the truth of the strange story.

One of the grandest events of modern European history is here minutely described, revealing clearly and forcibly through what horrors and tribulations France so wonderfully passed from her state of empire to the peace of the republic.

An admirable portrait of the distinguished author is frontispiece of the first volume, and, equally lifelike, one of Louis Adolphe Thiers prefisces the second.

McDonald's Patent FILTER FAUCET.

PURE WATER IS AN ABSOLUTE REQUI SITE TO HEALTH. SITE TO HEALTH.

The only true way to obtain Pure Water is by the filtering proces. Most filters now in use require constant attention; become clogged with filth, termin, or animalents. In other words, they become in themselves Cesspools of Disease.

The McDonald Filter Is Self-Cleansing, Simple, and Cheap.

There is no packing to wear out. The substance through which the water passes is a granulated gold quartz, nearly as hard as a diamond. Nothing can pass through it but water. It is double acting, and, as it turns only one way, no mistake can possibly occur. The plumbing trade is invited to examine and test this most valuable, economical, and simple improvement. simple improvement.
